

What is a Prosthodontist?

Not many people have ever heard of a Prosthodontist or even know what one does. Prosthodontists are dental specialists in the restoration and replacement of teeth that complete an additional three years of rigorous training after dental school in an accredited American Dental Association graduate program. If you are like many people and are unhappy about the “look” of your smile, you may want to consult a Prosthodontist. Prosthodontists are the architects of a smile who are trained specifically on how to rebuild and manage even the most complex dental patient who has suffered from years of breakdown in order to restore them back to optimal function and esthetics and give them a beautiful smile once again.

With the help of a Prosthodontist, there are many options, if you have lost some or all of your teeth. A Prosthodontist will work with you to develop a personalized treatment plan to create the appropriate type of tooth replacement which will work best for you and achieve the best esthetics.

A healthy smile has a significant impact on self-esteem. Loss of natural teeth, whether in an accident or as part of the aging process, can be traumatic and affect your outlook on life. Simple pleasures, like smiling or going out to eat, become a source of stress or embarrassment. Whether you need to replace one tooth or many, are interested in dental implants, wear dentures or removable partial dentures, or simply would like to improve the appearance of your smile, a Prosthodontist will work with you through every step of dental treatment, from an initial consultation through follow-up care.
